PRIMARY ELECTION REPORT
of the
SECRETARY OF STATE
of the
STATE OF INDIANA
1990

Primary Election Statistics

JOSEPH H. HOGSETT
Secretary of State

"Every government degenerates when trusted to the rulers of the people alone. The people themselves therefore are its only safe depositories."

Thomas Jefferson

The foundation of every democracy is the principle that citizens have the right to choose their leaders. This report contains the official results of Indiana's most recent exercise of that right, the 1990 election.

Primary election returns are included for the offices of U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative, State Senators, State Representatives, and County Judges.

General election returns are included for the above mentioned offices, and for the offices of Secretary of State, Treasurer of State, Auditor of State, and Clerk of the Supreme and Appellate Courts. Vote totals are also included for two proposed amendments to the Indiana Constitution.

Finally, figures for voter registration and voter turnout are included. These are one of the most important indicators of the health of our democracy. On a national level, in Presidential election years voter interest and participation tends to be much higher than in "off-years," when there is no Presidential election. Indiana is no exception to this phenomenon: in 1988, nearly 77 percent of those registered to vote did so, while in 1990, the figure was just over 56 percent.

What alarms me is the overall rate of public participation in elections: the 1.567 million Hoosiers who went to the polls in 1990 represent only 38 percent of the Indiana citizens who are old enough to vote.

As the state's chief election officer, I am committed to doing all I can to remove barriers to the voter registration and voting process, and to encouraging all Indiana citizens to register and vote.

We are all depositories of democracy, but only when we exercise our right to vote.

Sincerely,

Joseph H. Hogsett

Joseph H. Hogsett
Secretary of State
